

I am a flight attendant for United Airlines, and am in complete objection to the idea of legalizing cell phone use in-flight. Not only does this have the potential to cause extreme air rage, but will only interfere with duties of crew members on board aircraft, which is a federal regulation. Any way I see it, cell phone use in flight compromises safety.

I urge you to keep the current laws now in place which regulate cell phone usage on board commercial aircraft.

Sincerely,

Dorothy Zensen
Flight Attendant, LAX
